

McCloskey Coal Conference Calendar 2011/12

IHS McCloskey is a leading source of news and analysis on the international coal industry. Produced by a team of industry experts, the McCloskey news and forecasting services are widely considered to be the most accurate and reliable in the business.

IHS McCloskey develop and host a number of highly regarded coal conferences throughout the world. The focus at our conferences is on information and insight. The programmes are always topical and intelligent, the kind that can only be designed by a team with decades of expert experience between them. Because we have been at the forefront of coal industry reporting for so long, we can call upon industry leaders throughout the world to speak.

Presentations are invariably hype-free and highly informative with the customary discussions and debates in all sessions. In addition to engaging with some of the best minds in the industry, delegates always get a thorough market briefing from the McCloskey team.
